Gladiolus

INTRODUCTION

Again I am saying "how-do-you-do" to my customers and friends through my little catalog. In my work, each season brings its change of delightful occupation. Spring finds me busy putting up orders and getting my bulbs (soaked in a reliable fungicide) ready to be planted in rows three feet apart, as soon as the ground has been plowed, harrowed, fertilized and marked out. I use both clay and sandy loam land that has raised Connecticut Valley broadleaf tobacco for years; a cover crop of oats or barley is plowed under each spring. Young high school lads place each bulb right side up and evenly spaced in the trenches which are about four inches deep. They are covered with two inches of soil and left to the care of old mother earth until up enough to mark the rows. Then the horse and cultivator fill the trenches level and keep the soil well pulverized until they are ready to start blooming, when they are given their last cultivation,—the dirt being ridged up around the stalks as much as possible. This helps hold them up during wind and storm. Now the summer season is on, and blooms are everywhere. Such wonders all about, the days are only half long enough, and before one realizes fall is here. Time to dig the bulbs, and where little fellows were planted you find fat, large size bulbs. The new expensive bulblets were planted in steam sterilized beds under glass and when dug it's really fun to see what they have produced, some large, some small, some medium, and some very little. When all the bulbs are nicely dried they are cleaned, and put in their various trays in the cold cellar away from danger of frost. Winter has come and time to list the bulbs, get another catalog printed, and—best of all—select the new varieties I wish to try out.

LAVENDER DOUGLAS which I am listing this year for the first time is a sport of Mrs. Leon Douglas which I found among my Douglas blooms in 1927. Each year since it has had blooms of the same rose lavender color. In every way it is a typical Mrs. Douglas except in color. As I have only a few bulbs, the price is $5.00 each, $2.50 for the medium size, this year. It was exhibited at the Connecticut Horticultural Show in Hartford, (September, 1930) in the seedling class, and was awarded a second prize.

Some of the Glads I liked especially this year were—Aflame, which is well named, Albatross the new white, Averill, a fine Australian, and Betty Nuthall which gave wonderful spikes from small bulbs. Berty Snow and Dr. Moody are very beautiful lavenders, Orchid Lady was also very popular. Dr. Bennett the best of the bright reds is now so cheap every one can have it. Emil Aubrum is ordered by all who like the smoke shades as are Lavender Bride and Marmora with their immense blooms and many open at a time—Grey Knight is in this class also. Helen Howard has a color blend which pleases me very much—In Gloriana I find the same kind of glow. Hamburg Pink gives fine spikes of medium pink shade.

Jean du Tailles is a very much liked blotched variety. Mrs. Peters and Catherine Coleman are both favorites and first class Glads. Two good very late varieties are Katherine Hess and Mrs. Bothin. Crinkles with its much ruffled blooms and bright color sells on sight. Break o' Day was the first to bloom in my garden this year. Aida, Veilchenblau, Kirchoff's Violet and Sovereign were all much in demand by those who liked violet shades. Dick has many friends also. Longfellow is another excellent variety moderately priced, also Mrs. P. W. Sisson a very light pink and to me one of the loveliest. Pink Cloud and Rose Precose are also good pinks. Giant Nymph and Mrs. Douglas are as popular as ever and winning prizes at the shows every year. Golden Dream and Primrose Princess were best liked in yellows, with Cleopatra first in the deep bronze yellows. Gold Eagle gave exceptionally fine blooms this year. Victor and King George are the best reds with light throats I know of. Cardinal Prince and Crimson Glow will brighten up any room where red can be used. Madison Cooper, Purple Glory and Persia are the best inexpensive dark ones. Pfitzer's Triumph has immense blooms and is one of the finest imported varieties.

Please Note: Cultural instructions are sent with each order.

In case of error or mistakes (we all make them), money shall be refunded or stock replaced at the customer's choice.

Many varieties, especially the newer and rare sorts, are in great demand and I advise placing your order early to avoid disappointment.

Bulbs will be sent in March or April when there is no danger of freezing in transit, unless you instruct otherwise.

Cash, check or money order should accompany all orders.

Bulbs are sent prepaid where orders amount to $1.00 or over; 25 per cent cash deposit accepted on orders of $5.00 or over, balance before March 1st.

Sizes: L stands for large bulbs, 1¼ inch or more; M for medium size, ¾ in. or more; S for small size, ⅜ inch or more. Small size will usually bloom if planted early.

6 Bulbs at 5 times single rate, dozen at 10 times single rate.

Peonies

So remarkable have been the results accomplished through years of steadfast devotion and untiring effort on the part of the Peony lovers and hybridizers that today the modern Peony is the most superb and outstanding flower that grows in our gardens.

The single and Japanese peonies are becoming very popular and deservedly so. Both types should be in every collection.

The peony is absolutely hardy, and if properly planted in congenial soil and given reasonable care, is sure to thrive and give its wealth of beauty year after year.

September and October are the best months for planting peonies. Peonies usually bloom first season, but size and beauty of blossoms improves from year to year.

Bone meal is the best fertilizer to use about peonies. Plant in soil deeply dug and pulverized. Set so eyes are not deeper than two inches below level of the ground. Too deep planting is often cause of not blooming. Good idea to protect the roots first winter with mound of earth or any trash from garden, or both. Remove this early in spring.

Size of Peony Plants. Three to five well developed eyes with good root system.
